DIMITRIOS P. PANAGIOTOPOULOS

*President of the Organizing Committee,
Professor, University of Athens, President of IASL, Greece*

Dear friends and Colleagues, Ladies and Gentlemen,

Sport is an international institution, which has developed into a multifarious activity, in the framework of which complicated relations arise, while the problems and differences emerging from sports exertion are numerous.

I.A.S.L. has already completed 22 years of scientific involvement, research and contribution in the international scientific community and in the field of sport internationally. There is a large number of scientists who have shown interest in this sector during the 22 years of IASL, which has organized to date 19 successful international and global conferences. Through the activity of IASL, many young legal scientists and the teaching staff of many universities internationally had much interest to deal with this subject theoretically, but also many lawyers practically deal with this specific subject. Moreover, many people are scientists of related specializations, such as sports scientists and those who deal in practice with sport institutions, administration and organization of sport, that have displayed for a long time a special interest in Sports Law and Lex Sportiva. The path of 22 years that IASL has followed, can only be considered as a completely successful one.

The Hellenic Centre of Research on Sports Law in collaboration with the International Association of Sports Law have undertook to conduct the organization of the 20th Worldwide Sports Law Congress of IASL on 11-13 December 2014 in Athens entitled:

Sports Law - 22 Years I.A.S.L
Lex Sportiva - Lex Olympica and Sports Jurisdiction
Experience - Development & Perspective

We are confident that the organization of the 20th Worldwide Sports Law Congress, will be an event of utmost importance for the international scientific community involved in the field of Sports Law and also in general.

Delegates from all over the world, expert speakers and distinguished Professors of Sports Law from prestigious universities around the world participate in this Congress for the celebration of the 22 years of Sports Law of IASL. Among the topics, which will be discussed at the Conference, there are issues related to the areas of Sports Law, Sports Law Theory: Lex Sportiva - Olympica, Sport Deontology and Sports Ethics, Sports Jurisdiction, Sports Law Management and Sports Tourism, Developments In Sports Law: Learning from Recent Experience and Planning for the Future, International Sports Law. It's also important for the international community of Sport to come up with a scientific text for the establishment of an International Charter of Sport and Sport Tourism correspondingly, after many years of scientific sufferings.

The opening of the Congress will be held in the Ceremony Hall of the University in December 11, adding a special prestige to this Congress, as also the award of "Apollo Nomius", which is given to an international personality. In the same area, it was held the 1st International Congress on Sports Law, organized by EKEAD, in which the International Association of Sports Law (IASL) was born on the 13th December of 1992.

We welcome you to this historical Congress of IASL and we wish you a pleasant stay in the beautiful city of Athens.

JAMES A.R. NAFZIGER

*Honorary President of IASL,
Professor, Willamette University, USA*

Dear Delegates,

We welcome you to the 20th Worldwide Congress of IASL in Athens. We are the premier worldwide organization dedicated to the development of sports law and the dissemination of knowledge about developments in it.

As media surveys consistently attest, the global public is thoroughly sports-minded, not just during the Olympic Games and World Cups, but at all times and at all levels of competition and physical education. Not surprisingly, the related legal issues also resonate with the public, from doping and match-fixing to gender diversity, and from player transfers to the role of the media and commercial sponsorships, not to mention torts in sports.

What makes sports law particularly exciting is that it is constantly evolving. For example, the growing use of cameras and electronic technology not only has helped ensure greater accuracy in judging and scoring competition, but also has blurred the traditional distinction between the rules of the game and legal regulation of sports activity. Even the institutional framework of sports law has evolved dramatically in recent years. Perhaps the best example of this evolution is the Court of Arbitration for Sport. In the IASL we follow its cases and jurisprudence very closely.

Founded nearly a quarter of a century ago by Professor Dimitrios Panagiotopoulos in Athens, Greece, the IASL remains true to the ideals of nearby Olympia, the cradle of widespread sports competition. Although such continuity characterizes the IASL's diverse activities and publications, we are anything but static. That is particularly apparent in the lively exchanges about national and international issues that highlight our annual Congresses. Whatever the venue -we've met, for example in Athens, Barcelona, Beijing, Mexico City, Milwaukee, Montevideo, Moscow and Paris- we invite you with open arms and minds. Help us make the rule of sports law stronger, if not faster and higher. Take a look at what we have to offer all of you -athletes, sports officials, lawyers, teachers, students and ordinary spectators- and join in our common effort to advance the rule of law in sports.

Kind Regards

THEODORE FORTSAKIS

President of the Scientific Committee, Professor, Rector of National and Kapodistrian University of Athens, Greece

Dear participants, Ladies and Gentlemen,

The international scholarly community, all active people occupied with Sports Law, Lawyers, as well as those who are generally involved in Sports, will have the opportunity at the end of this year from 11 to 13 December (2014) in Athens to participate in a big event, the 20th IASL Congress of Sports Law.

It is known that the IASL is active in the sector of Sports Law since 1992, having made 19 consecutive World Congresses. From the first moment of its establishment until today, researching deeply and promoting internationally the scientific field of Sports Law. Moreover, the corresponding 1st International Congress, in which the International Association of Sports Law (IASL) was born, was organized by EKEAD the same dates of December of 1992 in the same place, at the University of Athens.

The subject of this Congress is entitled:

“Sports Law - 22 Years IASL: Lex Sportiva-Lex Olympica and Sports Jurisdiction, Experience, Development & Perspective”

It is a fact that Sports Law, both in Greece, where the International Association of Sports Law started, as well as in other countries all over the World, has received a great expansion and has significant growth. This is also confirmed by the number of issues included for discussion as conference sessions and address the whole area of Sports Law, such as:

- Sports Law Theory: Lex Sportiva - Olympica
- Sport Deontology and Sports Ethics, Sports Jurisdiction
- Sports Law Management and Sports Tourism
- Developments In Sports Law: Learning from Recent Experience And Planning For The Future
- International Aspects of Sports Law

Sports Law, as an expanded scientific area, not only includes issues in the narrow sense of athletic activities such as sports and International Sports Law, but also issues of physical activity, which is considered as physical education, for health reasons, wellness and wellbeing in people's spare time and sports tourism as well.

Moreover, it is important that in this Conference, except all the special issues of Sports Law and Sports Jurisdiction, will be discussed issues that require special settings, such as those of sports moral, sports management and sports tourism, because with all these sporting events, we have large movements of number of athletes and spectators with too many legal problems existing.

The 20th IASL Congress in Athens acquires an utmost importance because here will be discussion on a variety of topics with the presence of distinguished speakers of high international prestige, while there will be important announcements of specific researchers of Sports Law in a postgraduate or doctoral level. On the other hand, will be specifically discussed issues of international practice in sports in order to create and adopt an International Charter for sport for the establishment of an international legal framework in a sports, specifying the limits of a positive Lex Sportiva.

Therefore it is obvious that our expectations of such a Conference are very high, as well as the participation in this project of scholars and operators of sports life.

I am sure that the next day of the Congress we will be wiser. We welcome you to the 20th Worldwide Congress of IASL and we wish you to enjoy your stay in the charming city of Athens.

VICTOR V. BLAZHEEV

Professor, Rector of Kutafin Moscow State University

Dear Colleagues, Ladies and Gentlemen,

As all we know 2014 year for our country is remembered by the triumph of Russian athletes at the XXII Olympic Winter Games and successful achievement at the XI Paralympic Winter Games in Sochi (Russia), and also by the beginning of preparations for coming International Sport events - World Championships FINA 2015, Hockey 2016, Football 2018.

Russia is going through an active lawmaking period. Nevertheless, we are increasingly overseeing foreign experience of legal regulation of sport and promotion of sports activity.

Nowadays, when the role and status of sporting achievements acquired world significance, such a huge sport events organization has a decent importance.

New sport achievements are not only contributing enhancing the authority of the state and nation, but also the growth of national consciousness and health, as well as becoming a dynamic and full harmonious development of the human personality, including sports and physical culture.

From the very foundation of IASL it's not passed by a huge period of time for the final settlement of the rules in Sports Law. Consequently, the legal regulation of the sphere of physical culture and sport is particularly relevant nowadays, has decent flexibility and needs further development and improvement in the Future. The most effective approach in lawmaking is the exchange of best practice among professionals.

It's a great honor and pleasure at once to be a part of the so-called forefront of Legal regulation in Sport.

International Congress on Sports law under the patronage of IASL contributes invaluable experience to the development of legal science. Thus, the pleasure is all mines to welcome all participants of the 20th Congress of the International Association of Sports Law and wish them a meaningful dialogue and great creative achievements in the field of sports law.
